TABLE I.

AREA, HOUSES AND POPULATION.

Explanatory Note.

The States are arranged in three groups corresponding to the main natural divisions of Rajputana, and, so far as it is possible to do so, are entered in each group according to their geographical position. Except in the States of Kotah and Jhalawar there has been no material change in the boundaries of any State since 1891. Some of the boundary disputes have been settled but the extent to which the settlements have affected the areas of the States concerned cannot be definitely ascertained until detailed revenue surveys have been made. The areas given in 1891 have therefore been entered for the majority of the States. The areas of the States of Bikaner, Alwar, and Dholpur, as obtained by the Durbars from their revenue records, differed from the figures of 1891, and were therefore re-calculated in the Surveyor General's Office by planimeter from the standard topographical sheets. The figures given in the table are those which have been furnished by the Survey of India Department.

In 1892 a large portion of territory, aggregating 1,900 square miles, belonging to the old Jhalawar State was ceded to Kotah.

The areas of the re-modelled States of Kotah and Jhalawar are now 5,684 and 810 square miles respectively.

The figures relating to the detached parganas of the Tonk State situated in Central India, which comprise an area of 1,439 square miles containing a population of 129,871 persons, are excluded from this and all other Imperial tables. Conversely, the figures of the detached tracts of Nandwas of Gwalior and Gangapur of Indore situated in Mewar containing a population of 11,407 persons are included in the statistics of the Mewar State.

The pargana of Sambhar is held jointly by the Jaipur and Marwar Durbars. The figures relating to this district have therefore been halved, one-half being included in the figures of the Jaipur State and the other half in those of the Marwar State.

The population of the Cantonments in Rajputana was shown separately in 1891. It has now been included in that of the States in which the cantonments are situated.

TABLE II.

VARIATION IN POPULATION SINCE 1881.

Explanatory Note.

The first Census taken in Rajputana was in 1881. This Table, therefore, could not be carried back beyond that year.

The Bhils of the States in the Mewar Residency and the Grassias of Sirohi have now been enumerated for the first time. Their estimated numbers have been excluded from the figures of 1881 and 1891.

The population of Kotah and Jhalawar in 1881 and 1891 has been adjusted according to the present areas of these States.

The actual population of the ceded tracts was obtained from the revenue records in the possession of the Jhalawar Durbar and the adjustment is therefore exact instead of only proportionate. Similarly, the figures of 1881 and 1891 of Jaipur and Marwar have been adjusted according to the actual population of Sambhar in those years—one-half of the population being included in each State.

No Census was taken in 1881 of the detached districts of Nandwas of Indore and Gangapur of Gwalior situated in the Mewar State, consequently the population of these districts in 1881 could not be included in the figures of Mewar for that year. The population of these tracts is, however, included in the figures of Mewar for 1891 and 1901.

TABLE III.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES CLASSIFIED BY POPULATION.

[illegible]

TABLE IV.

TOWNS CLASSIFIED BY POPULATION WITH VARIATION SINCE 1881.

Explanatory Note.

The Cities of Rajputana are entered first, arranged in alphabetical order. A City was defined to be (i) every town containing not less than 100,000 inhabitants (ii) any other town which the Provincial Superintendent with the sanction of the Local Government may decide to treat as a city for Census purposes.

The remaining towns are grouped into four classes and are arranged alphabetically in each class. The first class consists of towns containing over 20,000 inhabitants; the second class of towns with a population of 10,000 and under 20,000; the third class of towns of 5,000 and under 10,000; and the fourth of towns of under 5,000 inhabitants.

The term town includes all Municipalities, Cantonments and places having a population of 5,000 and which are of an urban character. Owing to the vicissitudes of late years the population of some of the towns does not amount to 5,000. Those that have been included in the return possess municipalities or other urban characteristics. On the other hand places such as Kapasin of Mewar and Rian and Kalu of Marwar, which were treated as towns in 1891, but which have decreased below the numerical standard of 5,000 and do not possess urban characteristics have been excluded.

As far as possible the population of the suburbs has been shown separately, and where there have been any changes of area the necessary adjustments have been made in the figures of 1881 and 1891 to make them correspond to the 1901 area. The only urban areas for which it has been necessary, conformably to this principle, to adjust the figures of 1881 and 1891 are the Bikaner city and Dholpur town. In the case of the former some collections of huts outside the city wall, to which the Municipal laws do not extend and which were included in the city figures for 1881 and 1891, have now been included in the Surpura and Lunkaransar tahsils and excluded from the city population.

The town of Dholpur has expanded considerably of late years and has absorbed Damanpur which was shown as a separate town in 1891, as well as the villages of Vantipura and Mahabatnagar which contained in 1891 a population of 1,085 persons.

TABLE V.

TOWNS ARRANGED TERRITORIALY WITH POPULATION BY RELIGION.

Explanatory Note.

In this table the towns are entered in groups by States. The Capital town of the State is placed at the top of each group, and the remaining towns are arranged in alphabetical order.

Owing to the few number of Brahmoe, Parsis, and Jews, the followers of these three faiths are entered under the head "Others."

A footnote is entered in the Table showing separately the total number of the Parsis, Brahmoe and Jews.

Details of the Sects of Musalmans and Jains.

TABLE VI.

THE POPULATION BY RELIGION.

Explanatory Note.

Under the Musalman and Jain religions are shown respectively the three Sects of Musalmans—Sunni, Shiah and Wahabi ; and the three Sects of Jains—Swetambara, Digambara and Dhundia.

The term Animist has been adopted comprehensively for the Forest tribes—Bhils and Grassias—who are, on the whole, perhaps regarded as not yet having accepted the Hindu religion and who have not been converted to Christianity or to Mahomedanism.

The distinction, however, between the tribal forms of faith and the lower developments of Hinduism is very faint, and the Forest tribes of Rajputana might have been classed as Hindus without prejudice to the accuracy of the return.

Almost the whole of the population follows one or other of the four main religions—Hindu, Musalman, Jain and Animistic, and the members of the other faiths are comparatively small.

The religions are entered in the return according to the numerical strength of the followers of each belief except that the Jains, who are found in all the States, are shown before the Animists who exceed them in number but are returned by eleven States only.

TABLE VII.

THE POPULATION BY AGE, SEX AND CIVIL CONDITION.

Part I.—Rajputana—By Religions.

Explanatory Note.

The ages of the people recorded in the Census Schedules give the actual number of years completed—not the current year of age.

The age-periods "0—5", "5—10", "10—15", etc., etc., are given in the form used in most European Countries and recommended by the International Institute of Statistics. They are to be read as including the first and excluding the last figure of each period. Thus the period "0—5" includes only all who have completed their fourth year; the period "5—10" applies to those who have completed their fifth year but who have not completed their tenth year; and the period "10—15" to those who have completed their tenth but not their fifteenth year.

Divorced persons are included in the heading widowed.

The Table is divided into four parts :—

- PART I. Containing Statistics for Rajputana for the total population and for each main religion.
- PART II. Containing Statistics for each State separately for the total population.
- PART III. Containing Statistics for each State by main religions, that is, for each religion of importance in the State under review.
- PART IV. Containing Statistics for the total population and for each main religion for each of the eight Cities in Rajputana.

Table VII Part IV and the other Tables separately prepared for Cities will be found at the end of this volume.

As age statistics are only of importance when presented on a scale extensive enough to enable them to form the basis of comprehensive actuarial inductions, the age-periods given in Part II have been abridged and are in the following series.

0—5, 5—10, 10—15, 15—20, 20—40, 40—60, and 60 and over.

Explanatory Note.

As age statistics are only of importance when presented on a scale extensive enough to enable them to form the basis of comprehensive actuarial inductions, the age-periods given in Part II have been abridged and are in the following series :—

0-5, 5-10, 10-15, 15-20, 20-40, 40-60 and 60 and over.

Part I.—Rajputana.

Explanatory Note.

The instructions issued to the Enumerators were that those persons only should be returned as literate in a language or languages who can both read and write the language or languages recorded. Persons who can read but who do not know how to write were to be returned as illiterate.

This Table shows literacy in the two Main Provincial Vernaculars Rajasthani and Western Hindi, and in English; there is also a heading "Other Languages" in which is included all other languages or Vernaculars in which persons were returned as literate.

The terms "Rajasthani" and "Western Hindi" are those used by Mr. Grierson in the portion of the Linguistic Survey of India relating to Rajputana. Under Rajasthani the Vernaculars Marwari, Mewari, and Dhundari or Jaipuri, and under Western Hindi the Vernaculars Hindi and Urdu—which are all regarded by the Native public as distinct languages—are shown separately.

Under the sub-heading Hindi is included the dialect known as Braj Bhasha.

The languages included in the heading "Other Languages" and the languages or Vernaculars in which persons returned under English are also literate are shown in foot-notes in Parts I, II and III, and IV of the Table which give Statistics for the total population of Rajputana, of each State, and of each City respectively.

The Table is divided into four parts corresponding to those adopted for Table VII. Part IV, which gives Statistics for the eight Cities of Rajputana, will be found, with the other Tables prepared separately for Cities, at the end of this Volume.

TABLE X.

THE LANGUAGES ORDINARILY USED BY THE POPULATION.

Explanatory Note.

The return shows all the languages ordinarily used by the persons enumerated in Rajputana. The Table is divided into three Sections.

Section A — shows all the vernaculars of India returned in the Census Schedules beginning with those of Rajputana.

Section B — gives the vernaculars of Asiatic Countries beyond India.

Section C — contains the European languages returned.

In Section A, the vernacular which is most commonly used in Rajputana, namely, "Rajasthani" is shown first, then Western Hindi and then Gujarati; the remaining vernaculars of India are given in alphabetical order.

The terms "Rajasthani" and "Western Hindi" are those used in the "Linguistic Survey of India." These terms are not generally known to the people who recognise as languages the various vernaculars such as Marwari, Dhundari, etc., which are given under the main heads "Rajasthani," Western Hindi, etc. Under each of the main heads the vernaculars returned are shown in alphabetical order. In Sections B and C the languages are entered alphabetically. The abstract below shows the totals of the three Sections of the Table.

TABLE XI.

THE POPULATION BY BIRTH-PLACE.

Explanatory Note.

Out of a population of 9,723,301 only 39 persons (males) failed to return their birth-place.

The instructions issued were that if the person was born in India the District or State of birth and the Province were to be entered. If born elsewhere the name of the country was to be given. Under "India unspecified," 25 persons in the Sirohi State who returned their place of birth as "East Indies" have been included.

The Table is divided into eight Sections—

The first A gives statistics of the persons born in the States of Rajputana.

The second B which shows the number of persons born in the Provinces, Districts or States beyond Rajputana is sub-divided into two parts—

B (i). Contains the Districts or States of the Provinces adjacent to Rajputana.

B (ii). Other Provinces or States of India.

C gives the Countries in Asia beyond India.

D „ Countries in Europe.

E „ Countries in Africa.

F „ Countries in America.

G „ Countries in Australia.

H „ Those born at sea.

In Section B the Provinces with their Districts and States are entered in alphabetical order. In Sections C to G the Countries are also entered alphabetically except in Section C where the statistics for the United Kingdom and Malta are given first.

A similar Table showing the distribution of the population of the Cities will be found at the end of this Volume.

TABLE XIV.

CIVIL CONDITION BY AGE FOR SELECTED CASTES.

Explanatory Note.

The figures of the Castes entered in this Table represent the numbers returned by certain selected States only and not the total number found in Rajputana. The totals of these Castes, therefore, do not agree with the totals given in Table XIII.

The statistics of Rajputs comprise all the Rajputs in Rajputana except the few residing in the small Estates of Kusalgah and Lawa, and within Railway limits.

TABLE XV.

OCCUPATION OR MEANS OF LIVELIHOOD.

Part I.—General Table.

Explanatory Note.

The Table is divided into three Parts :—

PART I.—General Table.

PART II.—By Divisions and States.

The States are grouped with the Divisions to which they belong.

PART III.—By Cities.

This section of Table XV will be found, with the other Tables prepared separately for the eight Cities, at the end of the volume.

The numbers entered opposite the different occupations do not run serially throughout the table but are those assigned to each occupation in the Classified List issued by the Census Commissioner.

The following statement gives the numbers supported by each class.—

Explanatory Note.

In some of the returns furnished by the States persons in the service of the Tabulating State are distinguished from persons who belong to the service of other States. The number of persons in the service of States other than the tabulating State is shown in the Statement given below. In making up the total, however, for the Division, sub-order 6 has been amalgamated with sub-order 1-A and sub-order 7 with sub-order 4-A.
